Packing List for Traveling with a Baby
Carry-On Bags
2x Baby Bottles (if not breastfeeding)
Formula (if not breastfeeding)
Formula carrying / dispenser container
Nappies (Diapers)- calculate how many you require for the length of your journey - from departure accommodation to destination accommodation. Once calculated, add a few extra as reserve. If needed, add a couple of extras to each bag. There is nothing worse than running out of nappies / diapers if your baby picks up diarrhoea or similar!
Nappy (Diaper) Change Mat - can be very useful to use on the floor, in bathrooms, on airplane seats or anywhere as you travel.
Wet wipes - again just ensure you have plenty
Plastic (Nappy/Diaper) Bags for wet / dirty nappies/diapers
Bottle of hand sanitizzer
Paracetamol (100mls or less in your hand luggage) and syringes for easily giving medicine if required
Other medicines your baby requires
Changes of clothes for your baby - enough changes to cope with them getting wet or dirty but also enough for various weather conditions you may have enroute. We always made sure we had plenty of good one-piece suits packed.
Change of clothes for you in case the baby is sick or wets you.
Enough baby food for the journey plus 1-2 extra.
Crackers, Rusks or similar food if your baby is old enough
Dummy / Pacifier if your baby uses one. Have at least one spare in your hand luggage and perhaps another in your checked-in luggge. Also, have something to attach it to your babies clothes.
Baby's special toy if they have one - and a means to secure it so it does not get lost in your travels
Some type of cloth nappy / blanket or similar to keep your clothing clean when cuddling / burping baby or for placing on the floor if baby is lying / sleeping on the floor. Can also be useful for cleaning up a bigger mess.
Simple baby toys to entertain - books, rattle, rings
Teething ring / toy for chewing

Checked-In Luggage
Extra Formula to refill your dispensing container
